Preamble

URABBAPARCENSIA, born from the great southern land of Australia, which has since the Dreaming been under the humble traditional sovereignty of the Aboriginal people and Torres Strait Islanders living in full harmony with the Creation of the Almighty God, always evolving alongside their natural environment, and living respectfully in the spirit of cooperative kindness.

In Wiradjuri country in New South Wales there is located the Parish of Eurabba in the County of Bland. The word eurabba which means ‘a boggy creek’, reflects the way in which the oldest culture in the World adapted and thrived with respect for nature. This land has always been honoured by those who have lived here, from the Indigenous, the pioneers, veterans and migrants, beaming with courage and resilience to create a better life for each other.

One of those migrants was Dimitrios Racovolis, son of Pantelis who was in turn son of Seraphim, all sons of the Hellenic nation of Macedonia, was a proud Australian who always believed in the country he came to call home. Dimitrios’ passion for innovation and progress meant he was able to come from humble origins to become a respected provedore in Melbourne and also an agriculturalist in Wagga Wagga in the New South Wales Riverina. Dimitrios was a testament to the freedom and opportunity of Australia.

Daniel James Racovolis, grandson of Dimitrios, always wanting to advance society through innovation, envisioned from a very young age what is now known as Urabbapolis, a concept for a sophisticated yet sustainable civilisation, where the potential of every individual is realised. The Urabbapolitan way of life would be lived in the spirit of innovation but also cooperation with each other and with the land, with the values formed through our forebears; responsibility, accountability and creativity.

Following the death of his grandfather Dimitrios, Daniel James Racovolis purchased Urabba Street Reserve, Rankins Springs, New South Wales on 10 August 2011. Upon his original visit, the Founder observed that while the landscape may have appeared frugal and sparse, or parcensis, it was before and forever urabba, with tall trees and rich grasslands provided a sanctuary for birds and small mammals alike, adapting to the unrelenting demands placed upon it by our ever changing climate:

Daniel James Racovolis, wanting to set forth in the path of Almighty God and enact His will to advance humanity and the environment together, to honour his Hellenic descent, as well as Australia and its Indigenous people, by way of a charitable democracy under the rule of law, with the values of responsibility, accountability and creativity, established Urabbaland in its benefaction to the Australian community of the Urabbalish purpose and intention as recited, and also of its essence in Urabba Street Reserve, comprising the original limits of Urabbaland:

And since the establishment of Urabbaland by such benefaction:

- (a) on the third day of July of the Year of Our Lord Jesus Christ two thousand and twelve, the Founder applied for and was granted incorporation of a Corporate Body to acquire and maintain Urabba Street Reserve for the benefit of the general Australian community, being an Australian company registered under the Corporations Act 2001 of the Commonwealth and registered in the State of Victoria; and

- (b) on 1 November 2017, the Corporate Body affiliated with the Landcare movement through acquiring membership of Landcare NSW Incorporated;
- (c) on 5 March 2021, the Founder declared, by the enactment of this Statute and its adoption that day by special resolution of the Corporate Body, that his rights of foundation arising from the aforementioned circumstances, and the jurisdiction in its internal management, be embodied in the Enactor’s Most Excellent Management, his heirs and successors according to law, and provided for the establishment and admission of constituent micronations and for the government of territories.

And whereas, in the circumstances as set out in this Preamble, the humble concept of Urabbapolis evolved through Urabbaland to become Urabbaparcensia, the Founding Enactor has agreed to entrust indissolubly the governance of Urabbaparcensia and Urabbaparcensian interests to future generations of Urabbaparcensians.

The Founder of Urabbaparcensia therefore enacts:

Chapter 6—New jurisdictional divisions

121 New constituent micronations may be admitted or established

- (1) The Parliament may admit to the Enactorate or establish new constituent micronations, either with or without territory, and may upon such admission or establishment make or impose such terms and conditions, including the extent of representation in a House of the Parliament, as it thinks fit.

Limits on territory of micronation

- (2) The territory of a constituent micronation does not include any place that is part of the Enactorate or otherwise territory placed by the Enactor under the authority of and accepted by the Enactorate, or otherwise acquired by the Enactorate, to the extent the place is:
  - (a) part of Urabbaland or a jurisdictional division other than the constituent micronation; or
  - (b) attached to membership of the Enactorate not held by:
    - (i) the Enactorate; or
    - (ii) the operator of the micronation; or
    - (iii) a citizenship society of which the operator of the micronation is a member, or a member of the Enactorate representing the society; or
    - (iv) a wholly-owned subsidiary of an entity falling in subparagraphs (i) to (iii); or
  - (c) owned non-beneficially, except in the case of a constituent micronation only formed from lands held under the same trust.

122 Government of territories

- (1) The Parliament may make laws for the government of any territory surrendered by any constituent micronation to and accepted by the Enactorate, or of any territory placed by the Enactor under the authority of and accepted by the Enactorate, or otherwise acquired by the Enactorate, and may allow the representation of such territory in a House of the Parliament to the extent and on the terms which it thinks fit.

123 Alteration of limits of constituent micronations

- (1) The Parliament of the Enactorate may, with the consent of the legislature of a constituent micronation, and the approval of the majority of the electors of the micronation voting upon the question:
- (a) increase, diminish, or otherwise alter the limits of the micronation; or
  - (b) accept the surrender of any part of the micronation to the Enactorate, and upon such acceptance, such part of the micronation shall become subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Enactorate; or
  - (c) appoint the Enactorate or any other person as operator of the micronation; or
  - (d) dissolve a micronation; or
  - (e) dispose of the business of a micronation;
- upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed on.

Deemed consent by micronational legislature

- (2) The legislature of a constituent micronation is taken to have consented to an act referred to in subsection (1) if:
- (a) the micronation is operated by a person other than:
    - (i) a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Enactorate; or
    - (ii) a company falling in paragraph 107(3)(b); or
  - (b) the operator of the constituent micronation becoming a person:
    - (i) who is disqualified or suspended from the proceedings of the Enactorate; or

    - (iii) who is under external administration; or
  - (c) the legislature is vacant in the whole;
  - (d) in a circumstance prescribed by:

- (i) the governing document of the citizenship society that is the operator, or of which the operator is a member; or
- (ii) an act or agreement binding both the Enactorate and the operator of the micronation.

Deemed alteration of micronational limits

- (3) The territory of a constituent micronation is altered if:
- (a) there is a change in the ownership or lease (including beneficial ownership) in premises forming part of the micronation; or
  - (b) the membership attached to land forming part of the micronation is transferred or transmitted; and
  - (c) the change, transfer or transmission causes the territory of the constituent micronation to include places that fall within subsection 121(3);
- and the territory shall be taken to be surrendered to the Enactorate unless it becomes part of an existing micronation, or a new micronation formed under section 124 immediately after such alteration.

124 Formation of new constituent micronations

A new constituent micronation may be formed by separation of territory from a constituent micronation, but only with the consent of the legislature thereof, and a new constituent micronation may be formed by the union of 2 or more constituent micronations or parts of constituent micronations, but only with the consent of the legislatures of the constituent micronations affected.
